SUPERVISED PLAY

Field Secretary of National Playground Association Speaks After Dinner Held at November Club

The advantages of supervised play were presented both theoretically and practically by Miss Theresa E. Schmidt following an informal dinner held at the November club-house last Friday evening.

Miss Schmidt is the field secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America and came to Andover under the auspices of that association rather than under that of any local organization. The members of the committee who made the arrangements for the meeting were Mrs. W. D. Walker, Mrs. C. Carleton Kimball, Mrs. Herbert Fraser and Mrs. H. Gilbert Francke.

An excellent supper was served by Caterer Weigel at half past six o'clock. Miss Schmidt was then introduced by John F. O'Connell, who was active in obtaining for the town the swimming beach at Pump's pond. In his introductory remarks he commented on the fact that many civic improvements had come from the people at large and not from their appointed representatives. He deplored the fact that there was not a central civic organization to sponsor the playground movement but felt that the small group before him was well qualified to carry through such an undertaking.

The Playground association is interested in obtaining for all cities and towns of over 8,000 inhabitants an all-the-year-round supervised program. Although Miss Schmidt commended the swimming beach and the activities at the Guild she regretted that Andover was one of the towns in Massachusetts which lacked a comprehensive plan of supervised play. She is of the opinion that a trained leader and little or no equipment is better than equipment and no supervisor. She commented on the facts that Andover voters had just appropriated $15,000 for draining and grading the Playstead and that $1000 would provide a two-months' program of supervised play.

Time is the common possession of mankind and leisure time is that which is not filled with duties. No community is progressive if it does not provide for the recreation of its citizens, according to the speaker. Athletics should not be for the few, but for everyone. The American people are suffering from "spectatoritis" where athletics are concerned.

Play is the medium for many other things such as community morale and the development of neighborliness as well as meaning health, joy, and strength. Under the proper environment and direction, children learn sportsmanship, fair play, justice and loyalty. Detroit has an outstanding recreation program which costs but seven cents per capita.

Film Course in American History

The film course in American History conducted by Lawrence V. Roth, in the Borden Gymnasium of Phillips Academy will not meet again till April 7 or 10. If it is dark enough at seven o'clock on Wednesday, April 7, the next film, "The Frontier Woman" will be shown. This play is adapted from the Yale Chronicle, "The Pioneers of the Old Southwest." A later announcement will be made giving the exact day and hour.

The last film, "The Declaration of Independence," brought out the largest attendance of the year. The producers of this photo-play are to be congratulated for making this important episode in our history so dramatic. The difficulty with which unanimous action was secured was very well brought out. The genial spirit of Ben Franklin and the political sense of Sam Adams were also very well pictured. Our independence was voted on July 2 which should have been the day celebrated but July 4 was chosen because the formal report of the committee was adopted on that day.

Before the film, Mr. Roth gave the reasons why the colonies did not declare their independence in April 1775 after the event at Lexington and Concord, instead of a little over a year and two months later on July 2, 1776.

The small charge which is to cover the transportation of the tourists to the various countries should make it possible for anyone interested in travel to join the party. The ship will leave from the South church at 6.30 p.m., and the itinerary includes, Scotland, Holland, China and the North Pole.

Everything possible is being done for the comfort of the guests and it is hoped that all who are desirous of seeing the wonders of the foreign lands (and incidentally of helping to make possible the carrying on of the good work which the Sorority is doing) will book their passage early.

Further details will be announced later.

The annual inter-church missionary rally which has served as an inspiration and pattern for similar rallies throughout the state and even beyond its borders was held yesterday at the South church with Mrs. John V. Holt presiding.

In addition to representatives from the five Protestant churches of Andover, there were guests from Lawrence, Lowell, Methuen, Quincy, Boston, Cambridge, Salem, Winchester, Worcester, Brighton, and Peabody, including Congregational, Episcopal, Baptist, Methodist and Unitarian denominations. Among the specially invited guests were Mrs. James Sidney Allen of Winchester, Mrs. Roy Spear and Mrs. S. T. Horton of Quincy, Mrs. George E. Brock of Brighton, Mrs. Homer D. Carr of Worcester, Mrs. Albert Robinson of Peabody and Mrs. Frederic Hayward of Methuen.

The morning session, which opened at ten o'clock, had as its theme "Opportunities Along the King's Highway." The speakers were: Mrs. G. M. R. Holmes of the South church, "The Story of a Chinese Flag;" Mrs. Dana Clark of the Free Church, "All the Women of the Church at All the Work of the Church;" Mrs. Irving Shaw of the Ballardvale Congregational church, "Service Near and Far;" Mrs. George Moody of the Ballardvale Methodist church, "Making New Friends in Gikuki;" Mrs. Albert Wade of the Shawshen Community church, "Erecting Standards in a Community;" Mrs. C. Norman Bartlett of the Baptist church, "An Opportunity for Expansion;" Mrs. Horace Poynter for the Church of Christ in Phillips Academy, "Activities Along the Way;" Miss Angie Burt of the West church, "At Work in a Rural Community;" Miss Ethel Brown of Christ church, "St. Catherine's Guild;" Miss Bertha Bailey of Abbot Academy, "Our Friends in the Land of the Saddle Bags." The last speaker was of special interest as she told of the work at the Hindman school in Kentucky, where Miss Elizabeth Watts, formerly of this town, has been a teacher for eighteen years.

"Snapshots of an Andover Hillside" was the subject chosen by Rev. Fletcher D. Parker of Boston who told of the work accomplished by Camp Andover at Pump's pond during the last six years for the girls and boys of Greater Boston. A camp where no one is too poor to go and where character is the only requisite, the aim has been to interpret religion in every activity of camp life and teach what life under the Christian banner can mean. Where the very highest standards are maintained and even the cook and cook's assistants have been women with college degrees, it was easy to demonstrate the dignity of honest work, and the Christian spirit of service. So successful has been the camp, that expansion seems necessary and Camp Andover which has heretofore given one month of country life to boys and one month to girls, will next season be devoted entirely to girls. The first group will be older girls from sixteen to twenty years of age; the second group, girls from twelve to fifteen years; and a third group of girls of various ages will occupy the

The Silent Drama Speaks When D. W. Griffith Directs

Silence is the one thing missing from the silent drama when D. W. Griffith is making a picture.

It becomes articulate; it screams, it shouts, it laughs, it cries - it is drama in the broadest sense of the word, and it can be heard.

Hardboiled electricians become so absorbed at times they forget to trim their spotlights.

Scenes are repeated hour after hour. Instead of becoming boring they become hypnotic. The troubles or joys, the laughter or tears become contagious. And when the portrayals reach this point of realism, they are photographed. Sequences are split into scenes and the film record of the action is made while the players are still living the roles they are interpreting. It is exhausting work, but the reputation of D. W. Griffith productions is built upon the results.

Curiously enough, Mr. Griffith uses no music to help the audience achieve the proper mood. Emotion can't be stimulated artificially, he believes; it must be felt as completely as though the player actually is the character he or she is portraying.

A day spent with this veteran producer while he is in the course of directing a picture gives one a comprehensive grasp of the painstaking methods he pursues in getting the required results. For example, during the filming of "That Royle Girl," his initial production under the Paramount banner, Mr. Griffith made it a point to assemble his characters promptly at nine o'clock on the set to be used that day and outline the particular portion of the story to be made. The rehearsals then got under way.

In a short time the players were using lines and carrying on conversations exactly as people would under the given circumstances. From time to time Mr. Griffith spoke softly through a small megaphone. But as the spirit of the action became intensified he rarely interrupted. The players carried on, if he weren't there, they forgot the camera and concentrated on what they were saying and doing. The results were just as effective as on the stage of a theatre. The illusion was perfect.

It is this that Mr. Griffith seeks. When he has a scene rehearsed to the point where everybody is following the story with close attention he knows he has achieved perfection. Then the camera work is done.

The process is slow, the results are startling.

"That Royle Girl" is a stirring melodrama laid against the glittering yet sordid background of the Chicago underworld and jazz zone. Carol Dempster, W. C. Fields, James Kirkwood and Harrison Ford are the featured players. The picture opens at the Colonial Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, March 22-23.

REPERTORY THEATRE

Next week's attraction at The Repertory Theatre on Huntington Avenue will be W. Somerset Maugham's Comedy of Modern manners, "The Circle." This play, which was seen in Boston with Mrs. Leslie Carter and John Drew in an all-star cast in 1922, is an ideal choice for the Repertory Company.

It is a high comedy of English society life and has proved to be the most popular of Mr. Maugham's plays. The story concerns the elopement of a young mother with an English peer and their return to her home thirty years later finds the same situation confronting her daughter-in-law.

The working out of the plot, or the completion of "The Circle" makes a witty comedy complete with brilliant dialogue.

In the cast are: Ruth Taylor, Peg Entwistle, Charles Quartermaine, William Ker-shaw, Horace Pollock, Ross Alexander, and Agnes Elliot Scott.

Coming week of April 5th, "The Little Minister" by James M. Barrie.

SHUBERT THEATRE

Those theatregoers who recall Ethel Barrymore in Clyde Fitch's rollicking comedy, "Captain Jinks," will be delighted to know that the musical version of this play, under the same title, is coming to the Shubert Theatre, Boston, for a limited engagement beginning Monday, March 22, with dainty Ada-May as the star, appearing in the modern adaptation of the role made famous by the youthful Miss Barrymore. For those who do not remember the original comedy it is only necessary to say that "Captain Jinks," in its present form, is a highly sophisticated musical comedy, full of thunderous laughter, lyrical and syncopated tunes, dancing of all sorts from the Russian ballet to the Charleston, and a cast and chorus of unusual quality.

Frank Mandel, who wrote "No No Nanette," and Laurence Schwab, author of "Sweet Little Devil," made the up-to-date adaptation of "Captain Jinks," while the music was written by Lewis E. Gensler and Stephen Jones. The score contains a dozen song hits, lyrics to which were supplied by B. G. DeSylva. Edgar MacGregor directed the book, and Sammy Lee, who staged "The Cocoanuts," "No No Nanette," "Tip Toes" and the Music Box Revue, is responsible for the dancing and musical number in the show.

Ada-May reveals new talents in the leading role; the three pals of the comedy are portrayed by Louis Templeman, Max Hoffman, Jr., and John Philbrick; the chief comedy role is in the hands of Gus Shy and other important roles are in the hands of Marion Sunshine, Nina Olivette, Ferris Hartman, O. J. Vanasse and Elizabeth Richmond, while a large chorus and the Blue Diamond Band bring the strength of the company up to nearly a hundred.

"Captain Jinks" comes from a seven months' run in New York, where it was regarded as the season's best musical comedy.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE

A play which is causing much discussion is "Aloma of the South Seas," which is now in its third week at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston.

This play is somewhat different from any seen heretofore; it has all the charm of "The Bird of Paradise" plus highly sensational incidents the like of which is seldom seen on any stage and more thrills than one usually finds in a dozen plays.

Pathe News, beautiful groupings and startling scenic effects are some of the elements which catch the popular fancy, and the authors John B. Hymer and LeRoy Clemens have cleverly constructed scenes with such realism that one wonders if such conditions exist anywhere on earth, yet, the novels of Somerset Maugham, Frederick O'Brien and Jack London describe similar scenes, therefore it is reasonable to assume that there is some foundation in fact for such a play.

The story deals with the everlasting problem of the races and tells the adventures of a white man who goes to a South Sea Island to forget a broken love affair and becomes smitten with the charms of a beautiful native girl resulting in a series of highly dramatic happenings. The cast is headed by Mary Ann Dentler, Harry C. Bannister and Ray Collins, three artists who through their work in this play are now established as Boston favorites. Others who have important roles are: Ruth Abbott, Sally Stembler, Ben Taggart, Thomas Mc-Larnie, George Fitzgerald, Leonard Carey, Walter Ayers, Rita Nolan, Doris Williams, Ed Brady and the South Sea dancing girls - LaGitana, Yurivia and Victoria. A group of Hawaiian singers and instrumentalists furnish the atmospheric music.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE

Women have entered the political arena and are acting in almost every capacity even to occupying the exalted position of the Governor's chair. This is perhaps the most practical of the fair sex also presents several strangely interesting possibilities. Imagine, for instance, a woman Judge presiding over her own divorce case against her husband. And furthermore it really could happen at least in the state of Connecticut. Here, however, is only one of many delightful and amusing situations in William Hodge's laugh-provoking play, "The Judge's Husband" in which the popular star is appearing with marked success at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston.

In the stellar role of Joe Kirby, Mr. Hodge has an original and lovable character. There is the unflinching play of shrewd American common sense, a warm, human spirit and that rich and flashing brand of humor that is almost synonymous with the name of Hodge.

"Mr. Hodge swept his audience into unrestrained exhilaration" said a well-known Boston critic.

Throughout the comedy in which domestic happiness is endangered, and in which corrupt politics plays its part, there runs the thread of a charming story of young love.

A cast of true metropolitan excellence surrounds Mr. Hodge. Among those in support of the star are Gladys Hanson, Ruth Lyons, Minnie Milne, Mattie Keene, and LeRoy. Louis D'Arcy, of the famous "Rejane" repertory company, Paris, and Grace Menken, one of America's most promising young actresses, head the cast. The play ran for two years at the Booth Theatre, New York; an entire season in Chicago and packed the Tremont Theatre, Boston, for several weeks earlier in the season. The return engagement has been arranged in compliance with an insistent popular demand.

Prices for the Wednesday and Saturday matinees are about the same as those prevailing in Boston's motion picture and vaudeville theatres. Thus, for the first time an established New York dramatic success, presented with a truly brilliant cast, can be seen at no greater outlay than is required for the cheaper forms of entertainment.

Principles in Punishment Discussed

"When shall we punish?" and "How shall we punish?" are two of the questions arising in a group discussion of child-training held at the State Department of Public Health recently. It was unanimously agreed that the act committed by a child is not important; that the motive behind the act should be considered. For example a child who breaks a dish in the effort to be helpful by drying the dishes should not be punished for the breaking of the dish.

There was some difference of opinion as to method of punishment, some of the group favoring spanking and others against it. It was agreed, however, that the child should not be scared by threats, that regular meal-time should not be upset, that punishment should follow directly upon the act and not be postponed.

The following rule for child training was offered:

"When you refuse, refuse finally. When you consent, consent gladly. When you punish, punish good-naturedly. Praise often. Scold never."

War Memorial Plans

March 17, 1926

To the Andover Townsman:

Simply as an interested citizen of Andover, not as a representative of any group or organization, I have been curious to know just what other people think about the War Memorial question. I have talked with various members of the Legion and the War Memorial Committee, with business men with plain everyday citizens, with men and women, young and old; and contrary to general opinion there are not as many different ideas on the subject as one might think. There is a consensus of opinion that we should have some kind of a Memorial and that the limit of procrastination has been reached; that the time has come when we should agree on some plan.

From what I have heard, the actual plans proposed for a War Memorial by various individuals or groups can be classified under seven headings, as follows:

1. Bartlett Street (development as a Memorial Way, possibly in connection with Plan 6).

2. Bridge (rebuilding of Stimpson's bridge as a Memorial Bridge).

3. Gateway (a Memorial Arch or Gateway on the Playstead or Park).

4. Legion Hall or Building.

5. Monument (designed and executed by some eminent sculptor).

6. Playstead (development of same, possibly combined with Plan 3).

7. Town Hall or Auditorium.

I am sure that the War Memorial Committee knows of these propositions and has had them under consideration. But I fail to see how the Committee can come to a conclusion as to just which plan the town does or does not want. Each committee is simply making a blind guess that a certain plan will be approved. Each committee retires into conference and prays for Divine Guidance in solving the riddle. So far no committee has solved it; but their guesses have cost us several thousand dollars.

Now would it not be much more logical to get an actual expression from the citizens before spending any more money for plans and specifications? Would it not be much more practical if we first decided what we want ourselves? Why send the committee into the wilderness without a guiding star? We ought to be able and willing to decide just which one of these various propositions appeals to the greatest number. Then the committee could obtain several plans for that idea and later on we could adopt which-ever plan is best suited to our wishes and our means.

Let's not be lazy! Let's not be afraid of discussion! Let's all get together, Legion and public, men and women, and ask the committee to call a town or mass meeting, so that we can decide on some proposition and give them something definite to go on.

Thanking you for your courtesy, and hoping that some action may be taken which will aid this present committee in solving the question, I am

Sincerely yours,

NATHANIEL STOWERS

Tito Schipa to Sing in Lawrence

There is today perhaps no tenor so well known and so beloved throughout America as Tito Schipa. During the past two years his success on the concert stage has been phenomenal. Last season ninety-one appearances marked his triumphal progress from coast to coast. Before the final one of these was made, virtually his every date for the season of 1924-25 had been engaged; forty-seven of them were return engagements in cities where his voice had lately charmed. Such outstanding success is proof of Schipa's tremendous appeal to a vast public.

His debut as first lyric tenor of the Chicago Opera Company was made with Madame Galli-Curci in "Rigoletto." The ovation accorded him established Schipa's fame in a city which today calls him affectionately, "our tenor." His very first season in concert swept him into an equal popularity in a new field, bringing the verdict that as a singer of songs he was as great as he had already proved himself in operatic roles both in Chicago, in New York and in the leading cities of Europe and South America.

In every concert that Tito Schipa gives his program is doubled by encores demanded by a public which the rare beauty of his voice stirs to enthusiasm. The most reserved of critics are carried away by it. The Boston Globe said of him, "Schipa is one of the foremost living tenors." The New York Times spoke of "the powerful emotional quality of his voice with its vibrancy of tone, great beauty of phrasing, and clarity of enunciation."

The Rochester Journal and Post said of his concert, "Schipa's conquest of the audience was inevitable." The New Orleans Item stated, "Mr. Schipa, who was making his third appearance here, was enthusiastically received by a packed house." The San Francisco Bulletin chronicled, "As a purely lyric tenor, as a man with a voice of exquisite quality and a consummate artist in the use of his divine instrument, Schipa is surely unsurpassed by any singer of the day." Everywhere these glowing tributes were repeated.

A concert by Tito Schipa will be given in the Colonial Theatre, Lawrence, on Thursday evening, March 25. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Lions Club Charity fund. Tickets $1.50 and $2.00.

TALK ON SUPERVISED PLAY

per annum. Miss Schmidt contrasted this with commercial recreation such as pool and the movies. She also stated that the cost of one year in a reformatory was $439, a sum which had it been used in the preventive measure of supervised recreation, might have had a more salutary effect. In order that there may be room for out-door activities, some real estate developments provide that one-tenth of the area be reserved for recreation purposes while the growing tendency is to have more land in the school grounds, some high schools having as much as forty acres.

Miss Schmidt then gave concrete examples of the activities which she had seen in her work as field secretary telling of Christmas and Halloween celebrations, playground circuses, roller-skate meets, musical organizations, tobogganing, skating, ski jumping, snow-shoeing and snow modelling.

Mrs. Fraser then proposed that Miss Schmidt put on a program of games. The suggestion met with the approval of those present, and after the first "ice-breaker" all joined heartily in the games, the party breaking up with regret at half past ten after spending a very pleasant and unusual evening.

It is the plan of the groups already interested to effect organization later, and with the cooperation of other interested groups to plan something definite for community recreation in Andover.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Gilbert Franke, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fraser, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. C. Carleton Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. John P. O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Trow, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tyler, Rev. and Mrs. E. Victor Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. C. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. Thaxter Eaton, Mrs. Amy L. Briggs, Mrs. Horace H. Tyler, Mrs. Colver J. Stone, Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, Mrs. F. W. H. Stott, Mrs. Frank W. McLanathan, Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. Augustus Thompson, Mrs. Grace J. ## Andover Chamber of Commerce Sounds Warning

Just at present the popular indoor sport among a large group of Andover women is selling hosiery—good hosiery too—at only five pairs for $1.00.

Although the report has not been fully confirmed—it would appear from "early returns," as they say, that Barnum was right.

Some of the Andover women involved in the scheme of endless chain selling may be interested to know that a ruling from the courts is awaited as to the legality of this method of merchandising; and the post-office department has issued a fraud order against one of these endless chain firms.

They may be interested to know that in Toledo, Ohio, a city ordinance was passed to prevent this endless chain selling and the ordinance was upheld by the courts.

They may be interested to know that Atlanta, Ga., has also passed a similar ordinance; and that the attorney-general of Michigan has branded the scheme as "contrary to public interest and policy," and that the Boston Better Business Commission is now awaiting a formal report on its legality.

It will be remembered that a certain promoter named Ponzi operated in this vicinity once upon a time and paid huge dividends as long as the money was coming in. The following is a report by the Boston Better Business Commission as to the "how" of the scheme:

The endless chain idea is again being commercialized in the sale of merchandise, after being forgotten for many years. While all types of merchandise, ranging from candy to automobiles, are being sold in this manner hosiery is receiving the biggest play.

To start the scheme an advertisement is published offering $10.00 worth of full-fashioned hosiery for $1.00. The party answering the advertisement receives from the company a sample pair of hose and a request for $4.00. If the $4.00 is sent, then the purchaser may keep the sample hose and is given three coupons which are to be sold to three other people at $1.00 each—this cash to be retained by the seller, which cash down the original investment to $1.00. These three people must then send the company $3.00 each, for which they in turn receive three coupons each to be sold to other people.

When the transaction has gone through its second stage, i.e., when the three people to whom the coupons are sold have sent the company $3.00 each, the company will have received $13.00. Then four more pairs of hose, alleged to be $2.00 values, are sent (without further cost) to the party starting the chain. The scheme goes on, ad infinitum, until the purchasers of the coupons are unable to resell them. At this point the public will be the losers, having paid $3.00 for coupons of no value to them.

The following table shows how rapidly the sales of hosiery would increase provided the scheme works:

GROUP	NO. OF PERSONS	AM'T REC'D BY CORP.
3	9	27
4	27	81
8	2,178	6,561
9	6,561	19,683
10	19,683	59,049
15	4,782,969	14,348,907
22	10,450,353,203	$31,351,059,609

It can readily be seen from these figures that should the chain prove successful the company would within a short space of time be selling all of the hosiery used in America. At the twenty-second transaction 10,450,353,203 solicitors would be going from door to door, provided that many doorbells could be found. The scheme is unsound and cannot work, and will result in LOSS TO THE PUBLIC.

Sons of Veterans Meet

A regular meeting of the Sons of Veterans was held Friday night at G. A. R. hall. Floyd Eastman and Jesse Billington were installed as patriotic instructor and guide, respectively. Mantor Evans officiating as the installing officer. Charles Fairbrother and Charles Damon were elected delegates to represent the local organization at the Massachusetts Division Encampment to be held on April 6 and 7 at Lorimer hall, Tremont Temple, Boston. Kenneth Kibbee and Robert Miller were elected alternates. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Plans were completed for a smoke talk to be held at G. A. R. hall Friday night, March 26, to which all who are eligible are invited. Refreshments will be served during the course of the evening.

Recital by Helen Davis and Victor Young

Music lovers of this town will rejoice in the announcement that Helen Davis, the eminent mezzo-soprano and Victor Young, the popular composer-pianist will appear in a joint recital at the Town hall on March 25. Admission to the concert will be by card of introduction only, and William A. Allen who is bringing these celebrated artists to Andover has a few tickets left which will be issued in order of application.

The appearance of Miss Davis and Mr. Young, of course, would be sufficient to arouse the enthusiasm of music lovers here, but the fact that they will lend their superb art to the laudable work of revealing conclusively that the marvelous achievement of the RE-CREATION of musical sound has been attained, adds immeasurable interest to the occasion.

In the coming recital, Miss Davis will sing in comparison with her voice as RE-CREATED by the New Edison, to enable those in the audience to judge whether or not the living voice can be made to live forever. A superb program has been arranged—a program that will reveal all of the fascinating qualities of the glorious voice of the young mezzo-soprano. At times her living voice will be heard alone, at times she will sing in unison with her RE-CREATED voice, and at other times, she will sing duets with herself. Similar tests will be made by Victor Young with his piano RE-CREATIONS. The audience will try to pick the two golden threads of tone apart—to say which one lives for the moment and which one has been made immortal.

The program:
I'd Be a Butterfly Thomas Bayley

Abbot Senior Play

"As You Like It" was the play chosen by the Senior Class of Abbot academy to be presented before a large gathering of parents and friends in Davis hall on Tuesday evening.

The beautiful stage lent itself to the simple settings required for Oliver's orchard and the forest of Arden and the graceful costumes of the fair Rosalind and Celia and the dashing russet and green of the foresters helped to make a succession of lovely tableaux.

The careful work of Mrs. Bertha Morgan Gray was evident in the work of a large cast, some excellent characterizations being seen even in the minor parts.

Among the Andover girls who took part in the play were Edda Renouf, Sylvia Shapleigh, Jean Donald, Ruth Stafford, Frances Merrick and Frances Flag.

Miss Olive Rogers was manager of the stage and properties.

Music between the acts was furnished by an orchestra from Haverhill.

Mere Spectators Usurp Place of Voters

There was standing room only at the Town meeting for regular voters who could not get there at the beginning, while non-voters occupied the seats for their own amusement. Such were the conditions at our last town meeting, conditions that are unjust and plainly need remedying. Has the time come when we need to use some checking system to regulate those getting into our Town meetings?

There is no doubt but that the hall was overcrowded at the last meeting, nor is it unreasonable to say that voters who should have been seated had their places taken by some who had no right to be in the hall. Furthermore, there must have been an irresistible temptation to vote on the part of many squatters, while legal voters at the back of the hall found difficulty in hearing the discussion and also in having their vote noticed.

The checking system was tried about ten years ago and found rather impractical because it took so long to check the incoming voters. Town meetings, instead of starting at the scheduled hour of 1:30 would be an hour or so late in getting underway, so it should not be used again unless we are unable to devise a better system.

One solution of the question may be found in the use of tickets issued to the voters by the town somewhat in the same way that football fans receive tickets. These tickets could be made out to the individual voters and the voters should be made to sign the tickets before entering. In this way an expensive but effective check would be kept on all those entering. The whole question is serious enough to merit the serious consideration of all citizens.

Losses Chance of Acquiring Taxable Property Valued at Millions

Many years ago, for some strange reason, Andover's southern boundary was made to indent Wilmington for about a mile. For generations this irregularity in the town line had no extraordinary significance, but within the past few weeks, when the Boston & Maine railroad was considering the project of establishing $3,000,000 freight classification yards at Lowell Junction, this projection of land took on great significance for Andover. The first vague rumors were that the yards were to be at the junction and everyone thought that the full benefit of the plans, with a stimulus to Ballardvale in particular. But it now seems apparent that most, if not all, of the yards are to be in Tewksbury.

While this is not as favorable as we hoped, it still seems likely that on account of their nearness to this town, the freight yards will indirectly benefit us too. The Townsman wonders whether either our Town fathers or the Chamber of Commerce did anything to encourage the Boston & Maine to locate in this town.

The Lost Arctic

An island in the air, including Mt. Washington, Mt. Jefferson and Mt. Adams, is the region which Professor Walter Collins O'Kane of the New Hampshire State college, has fancifully called "The Lost Arctic." In an illustrated lecture delivered last evening in Pynchard hall under the auspices of the Teachers Association, Prof. O'Kane told many interesting facts about the geology and botany of this region. The speaker was introduced by Nathan C. Hamblin, principal of the Pynchard school.

In a few hours, it is possible to ascend on foot or even by automobile from a region which has the climate of the temperate zone into a region which has many of the characteristics of the arctic zone. During the sixteen years from 1870 to 1886 when the United States government maintained an observation station on the summit of Mt. Washington the glass was registered as low as sixty-nine degrees below zero, with a wind velocity of 150 miles an hour, as compared with a temperature of fifty-five degrees below zero and wind of not nearly that velocity within the Arctic circle. The snow in winter lies in ravines to the depth of 300 feet. The speaker read from a book, now out of print, of the strange and trying experiences of the men in the employ of the government who spend the winter of 1870 on top of Mt. Washington.

One of the most interesting studies which Professor O'Kane made of this region, was of the trees at the timber line. Though tortured and twisted by the winds they live to an enormous age, yet they may attain a height of but a few feet. He told of sawing off a black spruce to count the rings in its trunk, and although only four and one half inches in diameter, he calculated that it was 363 years old. When the snow melts away, almost at its edge, may be found familiar plants such as poke weed, bunch berry, rhodora and gold thread, Labrador tea and blueberries, while there are others found only in the Arctic regions. Butterflies are also found which live usually only in the Arctic regions.

Professor O'Kane told of the geological formation of the mountains and of the countless ages which have elapsed since they emerged from the ice sheet which once covered the entire North America. During the lecture the pictures with several of the semi-precious stones, such as tourmaline, found in this region and the process of cutting them for commercial purposes.

Previous to the lecture, piano selections were rendered by Miss Marjorie Faunce of the high school faculty.

Moderator Offers Prize at Pynchard School

The double quartette of trombones will usher in the service by playing from the steps of the church fifteen minutes before its opening.

Experiences in Siam

"The one thing I have against your country is that you know so little about mine," said the King of Siam in talking to Miss Gertrude V. Ingersoll whose father was Minister from the United States to that far-away country.

Miss Ingersoll spoke on "Experiences of a Diplomat's Daughter in Siam" before the November club and their friends Monday afternoon and certainly left them with many new and interesting impressions of that spectacular country which has an area equal to France and a population of 10,000,000 people.

Although it is the one absolute monarchy in the world, its king having the power of life and death over every subject, yet it is said that there is more workable democracy there than there is in the United States.

It is a country of color, charm, and courtesy where there is no hurry, no strain and no worry. Its people, who worship Buddha, have a kindness and breadth of vision which might well be imitated by those of other religions.

Miss Ingersoll, whose position gave her access to many places not seen by the ordinary traveler, described the royal palaces, and the state dinners which she attended, the distinctive architecture, the life on the river, the street life, with its pawn shops and portable restaurants, the method of planting and cultivating rice which is the staple food of the country, and the methods of transportation which until very recently have been entirely either by elephant or by boat on the river and waterways which form a network of canals. Her allusions to the fauna were all that marred the impression of an earthly paradise.

The lecture was profusely illustrated with stereoscopic pictures.

Tea was served by members of the literature department with Mrs. Philip French and Mrs. Frank W. McLanahan pouring.

The department of drama will meet with Miss Emily Richards, Morton street, on Monday, March 22, at three o'clock.

The department of art will meet with Mrs. Philip French on Monday, March 22, at three o'clock.

The department of music will meet with Miss Emily Richards, Morton street, on Monday, March 22, at quarter past three.

The department of literature will meet with Miss Rosa Torrey, High street, on Wednesday, March 24, at half past three.

The meeting of the garden department has been postponed from Tuesday, March 16, to Tuesday, March 23. It will be held at ten o'clock in the morning with Mrs. W. D. Walker, Main street. Mrs. Harry Clark of North Andover will be the speaker.

The general committee for the street fair will meet at the clubhouse on Wednesday, March 24, at two o'clock.

Albion Metcalfe Gives Recital in Chapel of Phillips Academy

Albion Metcalfe of Reading gave a piano recital in the chapel of Phillips Academy Wednesday evening before a small but very appreciative audience.

His playing was finished and pleasing in every way. The gracefulness of the Mozart number which opened the program was especially delightful, and all the numbers were marked by his keen sense of rhythm, beautiful tone qualities, and originality of interpretation.

Mr. Metcalfe's friends in Andover feel that the young artist has a very promising future opening before him.

The program:

Massachusetts General Hospital in Need of More Wards

In endorsement of the campaign of the Massachusetts General Hospital for a fund of $3,250,000 to enlarge its facilities and endow its educational work, the following statement of opinion of this institution and its efforts has been given by Dr. W. D. Walker of Andover:—

"The very valuable and helpful services of the great Hospital are well known to the medical profession. Many of my difficult cases have been referred to the Massachusetts General Hospital."

The Massachusetts General Hospital, which is supported wholly by private benefaction, has been of the greatest value to physicians and surgeons throughout New England by providing facilities and treatment not locally available for their patients. It is in urgent need of more room for wards, and of equipment for the unselfish labors of its distinguished staff of medical and surgical specialists who have kept it in the front rank of the hospitals of the world.

One thousand one hundred thirty-one patients from Andover, have been treated at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Ross Has Signed His Team

At the present time he has lined up James Dyer, Ben Hyde, Paul Dyer, Frank Nelligan, John Souter, Joe Wright, Sam Deyernmond, Russell Blunt, Dan Doyle, Oscar Swenson, Norman Moore, Gunnar Holstrom, Ralph Hewitt and John Daley.

A number of these boys played with Pynchard High school. James Dyer, who will do the catching for the team is a former Villanova college baseball and football star. When he was at Villanova he held down the catching berth and the present catcher, Jacobs, was his understudy.

Bird Habits and Migration

The annual lecture on birds given under the auspices of the Natural History society on Tuesday evening in Pynchard hall was by Winthrop Packard of the Massachusetts Audubon society. It was well attended by both children and grown-ups and was very interesting.

Mr. Packard gave a short talk before showing stereoscopic slides, telling how the songs of the birds had been set to words by the early settlers and many people now distinguish the birds by what the birds seem to say. He told of the appeal of the birds to most people on account of their beauty of plumage and sweetness of song, but they also have a positive economic value. Because of the fact that they eat such quantities of insects, the birds are preservers of human life, for if there were no birds the land would quickly become a desert.

Mr. Packard appealed especially to the children to protect the birds, to feed them in the winter, to build houses for them in the spring and if they wished the birds to visit them, to build a bird bath for them to use on the hot summer days.

A large number of pictures were thrown on the screen showing some of the native birds of this part of the country. Especially interesting were the maps showing their migrations, from the flights covered hundreds of miles, there were some birds which migrated from their breeding places near the Arctic circle to spend the northern winter far beyond the tip of Cape Horn in South America, and made the journey back in the spring, a distance each way of nearly 11,000 miles. How these seemingly frail creatures endure such flights has never been solved by the naturalists who study them.

Pictures of bird nests, of young and mature birds were shown and pictures of the words which the songsters love.

Previous to the lecture the president, O. P. Chase, appointed N. C. Hamblin, Henry C. Sanborn and Mrs. F. M. Foster a nominating committee to bring in a list of officers for the annual meeting which will be held on April 20.

MISSIONARY RALLY

camp during the month of August. A camp for boys has been equipped at Lake Winnepesaukee in New Hampshire.

Miss Martha Hartman of Lima, Peru, who is a teacher in the only high school for girls in that country, told of the problems of the west coast of South America. With a university for men founded in 1551, the oldest in this hemisphere, yet Peru is a land of educational paradoxes. For those whose conception of South American civilization and progress is of the port cities it is difficult to realize the backward condition in parts of Peru, Bolivia, Paraguay, Venezuela and Colombia and Ecuador. The speaker briefly sketched the history of the country with the conquest of the Incas by the Spanish which she lays to the Indians' love of peace and abhorrence of war. The high state of civilization of the Incas has left a legacy of concrete roads (though only two feet wide) more than five hundred years old and a system of irrigation which encourages vegetation in a land where it hasn't rained for fifty years. At this time there are 57 percent pure-blooded Indians, 20 percent white people with the remaining 23 percent of mixed races. The intense contempt for labor felt by the whites has placed a great burden on the other races. In the school where Miss Hartman is a teacher, there are 180 students, 118 of whom are boarding students, many of them coming from great distances and even from the other side of the Andes. With their education and knowledge of English and Spanish, the graduates have unusual opportunities both for personal profit and Christian service in the business world as well as being better fitted for home-making and mothers. Miss Hartman held up as an ideal not a political Pan-America nor a commercial Pan-America, but a spiritual Inter-America.

The devotional service was led by Mrs. Chester W. Grover of Cambridge who took as her subject "Prayer in Everything." During the noon hour, the majority of those present partook of a basket lunch, while the speakers and invited guests enjoyed a luncheon provided by the hostess church. Hot coffee was served to all and a social hour enjoyed.

The afternoon opened with a song service with Mrs. Angus and Mrs. Philip Ripley at the pianos and Miss Mabel Carter as a leader.

The first speaker was Miss Janette Miller of Ballundo, Africa, who told of a country with a delightful climate and a wealth of beautiful flowers, yet where children were born to die, and disease and the people lived in fear of each other and of evil spirits. She told of their thirst for Christian education and the difference it made in their lives, changing misery to happiness and fear to peace. Teachers are willingly supported by the people and all who have come under Christian influence are filled with the missionary spirit and the desire to spread the good tidings to others. The great need and opportunity in the country is for schools and hospitals.

Rev. J. Reis of Lowell told of the work among his people, the Portuguese. The church aims to fill their social and educational as well as religious needs, though he considers the latter by far the most important.

Mrs. Goodale of St. Mark's church, Boston, made an eloquent appeal for the Negro. The migration of the colored people from the South has given the church an opportunity to help them adapt themselves to the new environment. She reminded her hearers that life and character should be a measure and not the color of one's skin and asked that everyone irrespective of race have faith and justice meted out to them and find an open door in education and industry.

Owing to the many changes in the program necessitated by illness among those who were to take part, what was arranged as a musical interlude became a postlude. Mrs. Kenneth E. Fiske sang "The Hills of Sky" with a cello obligato by Miss Helen Eaton and piano accompaniment by Mrs. John C. Angus and also "My Task." A piano duet by Mrs. Angus and Mrs. Philip Ripley concluded a day of inspiration and fellowship.

The members of the reception committee were Mrs. V. D. Harrington, chairman; Miss Mary Bell, Mrs. Ralph Hadley, Mrs. Frank Cole, Mrs. Alexander Wadsworth, Mrs. James J. Abbott and Miss C. Madeleine Hewes.

The ushers were Mrs. Myron Clark, Mrs. P. B. Whittemore, Miss Alice Bell, Mrs. Wright Stafford, Mrs. Burchard Horne, Mrs. Arthur Bassett, Mrs. Harvey Turner.

The members of the luncheon committee were Mrs. Chester W. Holland, chairman; Mrs. Joseph Higginson and Mrs. Louis Finger.

Percy Grainger to Give Recital in Andover

Percy Grainger, pianist-composer, will give a recital in the chapel of Phillips Academy on Wednesday evening, April 14. Tickets at $1.00 each are on sale at the Andover Bookstore.

The New York Evening Post writes of him as follows:

"One of the largest audiences of the season effusively greeted Grainger in Carnegie Hall last night, listened to his playing with rapt attention and followed it up with demonstration of applause. Chopin was represented by his most sonorous and his most brilliant, his extraordinary wealth of musical thought, imagination and poetry so lucidly revealed and so entrancingly proclaimed. It was a memorable achievement: I shall never forget the exquisite tenderness of the cantilena in his harmonic parts. Perhaps no pianist has ever individualized his fingers as Grainger has."

The New York Herald writes: "He was able throughout to bring to his readings the rare gift of a personality rich in delightful freshness of spirit, a glittering technical power and a brilliant yet poetic style. His delivery of the Chopin sonata was finely modeled in plan and exquisitely wrought in detail. At the close he was repeatedly recalled to the stage."

Beatrice Wheeler Harpham Recital

One of the most beautiful recitals in recent years at Abbot Academy, was the given by Beatrice Wheeler Harpham, mezzo soprano, last Saturday. Much had been expected of Mrs. Harpham because of her previous successes in the operatic world. An opera singer is not inevitably a good recitalist but Mrs. Harpham is, emphatically. Her diction was very fine, her program worth while, her voice glorious, and her personality ingratiating and dignified. The audience was quick to sense the beauties of the recital. Kate Friskin provided sympathetic and illuminating accompaniments.

The proceeds from the affair will be used in furnishing the baseball team with the necessary equipment for the season. A strong nine is to be formed, and it is hoped that all townspeople will get behind the movement with enthusiasm.

Cultivate the Best

Nearly all our heartaches and cares are the products of worry. We let things rob us of our peace and we are victims of conquerors. All the worry in the world won't make us better, but it will undoubtedly deprive us of the nobility which is ours for the claiming. It is ours to be undisturbed and undistressed. Doctor Brand, in Mrs. Barclay's "Rosary," told Jane Champion: "Here is a prescription for you! See a few big things. Go for the big things. You will like to remember, when you are bothering about pouring water in and out of teacups, Niagara is flowing still." Help yourself to what is yours by right—health, happiness, uprightness, and love. If these things be yours, then nothing can rob you of your best, and there won't be any waste.—London Tit-Bits.

"Old Man" and "Dad"

Asks one of those who are always viewing with alarm: "Does your boy call you 'Dad' to your face and 'old man' behind your back?"

It is quite possible he does, which worries us not in the least. In fact, there are times when he calls us "old man" right to our face. And strange to say, it is at such times when the invisible barrier between father and son is most completely obliterated and confidential relations most firmly established—it is at such times we can get in our best instructive talks without any suspicion on his part that we are giving advice. Call us "old man"? He sure does, and why shouldn't he? We call him "old man."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

State Constitutions

The states in existence at the time of the drafting of the Constitution of the United States had constitutions of their own and it was upon these that the federal one was patterned. The states developed their documents from colonial charters, which in turn were modeled upon the charters of mercantile companies of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries. Massachusetts is the only state which retains the constitution framed in that period, but it has been revised and amended. All the states, however, in their modern constitutions retain many of the principles and much of the framework of the other documents.

Hot Boulders Make Bath

The Currier Indians along the Thompson river, in British Columbia, have a crude Turkish bath. They roll big boulders into a blazing bonfire until they are very hot, and then they roll them back into their homes, shut the doors and after divesting themselves of clothes, lie on a cot near the large heated stones. The effect is that of a Turkish bath. To top off the bath the "bathers" take a quick and brief plunge into the river for what corresponds to the cold shower of civilization.

Brains Minor Factor in Financial Success

If you set out in this world to make money, your success will depend more on your personality than on intelligence or ability as a scholar. And a sense of humor won't help you so very much, either.

What you will need to stock up on are the traits usually displayed in abundance by self-made men of so many "success" stories; aggressiveness, enthusiasm, accuracy in work, and self-reliance.

A study of the mathematical relation between personality and income has been made at Purdue university, and the traits that go hand in hand with money making are listed in order of their importance. Typical college men, who were graduated from engineering school five years ago, were taken as subjects for the study.

Originality and address are of more monetary importance in personality than neatness and sincerity, the investigation indicates. Reasoning ability stands twelfth in the series of 23 personal traits correlated with income. Moral habits are the last thing in personality makeup that has any connection with financial success.—Kansas City Star.

Baptist C. E. Notes

At the last business meeting of the Baptist C. E. society the newly elected officials in the society were accepted and took up their duties for the ensuing year. The new officials are as follows:

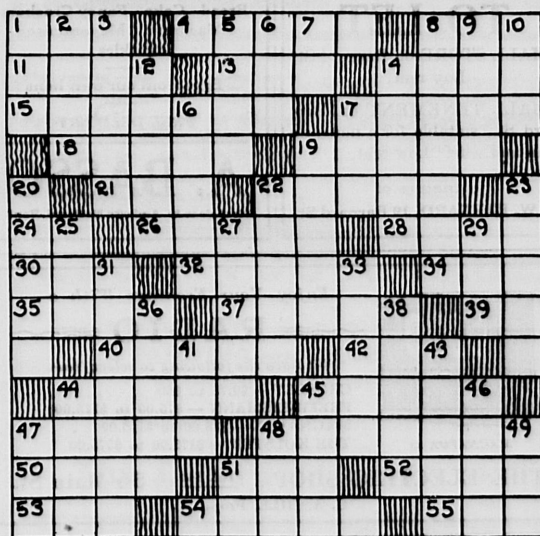

President, Selden Billington; vice president, Herbert Brown, secretary, Miss Dora Dennison; treasurer, Bart Smalley.

The revised constitution was read adopted and signed by the members. The Standards chart which was adopted by the society and has been in operation for the last six months has expired and it was voted to renew it for another period of six months. Miss Elsie Ross, who has creditably carried out the work involved in the adoption of the chart has been reappointed to oversee the work of the next six months.

The prayer-meeting committee was able to give a favorable report of their activities for the past winter season. The "shut-in" services held by this committee have been favorably commented upon, and it has encouraged them to arrange for more in the near future. The committee is also glad to report that an increase of the members of the society in attendance at Wednesday evening prayer meetings is noted and appreciated.

Every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock members of the society are meeting at the church and are forming a choir. With Easter only a short while away all that can possibly attend are urged to be present at these rehearsals, as special Easter music is being arranged. This choir is fortunate in being able to obtain the services of Mr. Eaton of Lawrence, who has had many years of experience in choir work.

Fore River played rings around the Smith and Dove team at Quiney Saturday in an industrial league game scoring 6 goals to the Andover team's 1 tally. Preliminary plans were laid, at a meeting of those interested, held Saturday evening in the Guild rooms. It is planned to stage the show in the Guild hall, and have general dancing complete the evening. Eugene Zalla has been chosen as director. Mr. Zalla appeared for a number of years in amateur shows as premier endman, and he will undoubtedly score the same success in his new role, as he did when attired in the array of a blackface comedian. Four experienced ends will perform in the Guild show: George Brown and Thomas Darby as premier ends and William Dolan and Walter Batchelder comprise the set who are to dispense songs and jokes during the evening. Edna Dolan and Darby recently appeared in the K. of C. minstrels. George Brown is an end in the Masonic minstrel show. The first rehearsal of the Guild hall show, will be held Wednesday evening in the Guild hall. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Herbert Fraser and Byron Feeney.

The second meeting of the dressmaking class in the course which is being given at the Guild was held Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. James Feeney is chairman and Miss Sabina the teacher. Plans are now under way for an evening class to be held at the Guild on Wednesday nights.

The Boys' club held a supper Wednesday evening at the Guild house. One new member was elected to the club. The hostesses were Mrs. James Feeney, Miss Frances Keany, Mrs. Herbert Frazer and Mrs. Robert Harvey.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL NOTES

Basketball

The basketball season at Essex Aggie closed Friday with two class league games and a varsity game. The freshmen defeated the sophomores 15 to 9, thereby winning third place in the league standing. The Juniors defeated the Seniors 15 to 3 in a one-sided game and won the class championship for the second consecutive year.

The final standing of the league is as follows:

CLASS	WON	LOST	STANDING
Juniors	8	2	899
Seniors	7	2	778
Freshmen	2	7	222
Sophomores	1	8	111

The varsity team brought their season to a very successful close by defeating Johnson High at North Andover by 17 to 11. This is the tenth victory of the season, of sixteen games and is considered a very good record for the school.

The basketball team will lose heavily by graduation. The loss includes Captain Knochian, Rippon, D. Rogers, Wentworth, and Vaughan of the senior class, but will have a nucleus of several undergraduates for the following year. These include Sproull, Collins, T. Gould, Wilson and McNair.

Ford Costs More to Build—Is Worth More—Yet Sells for Less

If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford according to the high standards of the Ford Motor Company, it would be impossible to offer it at anything like the present low Ford prices.

If the Ford Motor Company would substitute ordinary design for the basic Ford features, Ford cars could be produced and sold for less than the present Ford prices. Yet by so doing, Ford simplicity, durability and reliability would fall below the standard insisted upon by the Ford Motor Company.

Just think! 13,000,000 model T Ford cars have been produced since 1908—almost as many automobiles as were built by all other manufacturers combined. In 1925, almost 2,000,000 Ford cars and trucks were built and sold—and plans for 1926 call for the production of even more than 2,000,000.

It was the superiority of Ford design in 1908 that established Ford leadership. It is this same Ford design, improved but basically unchanged, that is continuing to make the Ford car the outstanding leader among all automobiles.

Goodwill Industries to Be Established
Throughout the World

The Morgan Memorial of Boston, which has been accepted as the model philanthropic social and religious industrial institution to be duplicated in more than forty of the leading American cities through the agency of the Bureau of Goodwill Industries of America, of which the Rev. Edgar J. Helms is executive secretary, will be duplicated throughout the world. Plans for reproducing the Morgan Memorial in many countries were announced today by the officers of the Morgan Memorial and the Bureau of Goodwill Industries. Already Goodwill Industries have been established in twenty-five of the largest cities in the United States, and plans are being perfected for such institutions in nineteen others, while still other cities are being considered by the Bureau which has millions of dollars available for such development and the cooperation of the leading churches in the country.

At the annual meeting of the Goodwill Industries in Milwaukee it was voted to send

Dr. Helms, superintendent of the Morgan Memorial for the past thirty years, throughout the world to tell the story of the Morgan Memorial and to create the organizations modified to suit local needs, in the most important cities of the world. During his absence, which will be at least a year, the Bureau will pay his salary and expenses. The Morgan Memorial directors having cooperated in giving Dr. Helms his salary and in addition an amount sufficient to make possible Mrs. Helms' accompanying him.

Dr. Helms will start on his mission next fall. During the last several years the Morgan Memorial has trained hundreds of young clergymen and social workers, both men and women, for the carrying on of similar projects throughout the world. Two have been sent to China, one to Japan and three to the Near East. Through the interest of Bishop Fisher of the Methodist Church, located at Calcutta, the plan to extend the Morgan Memorial idea was fostered and a wealthy churchman of New Haven, Conn., has made possible the fund necessary to make the plan feasible.

Dr. Helms will bring the Morgan Memorial story to many colleges in the United States and will appear also before many religious and business groups in Japan, China, India, the Near East, the Balkans, France, Germany, Denmark, Australia, the Philippines, Sweden, Italy, England and Scotland. His itinerary is not yet arranged, except in a general way, though invitations have been received from various church and business organizations in all of the countries he contemplates visiting.

The Morgan Memorial last year paid out to men and women otherwise unemployed $179,365 for salvaging waste materials, giving part time or temporary employment to more than 4000 men and women, found outside positions for 449, gave 19,341 lodgings in the Seavey Settlement to 1,051 men without work, received 115,000 Goodwill bags containing cast off materials which were converted into useful articles, gave free legal advice to 454, furnished food and clothing to 845 families, had 2419 children registered in the children's classes and Americanization work, treated 10,265 persons in the free medical clinic and kept 154 children at the South Athol Fresh Air camp during the summer.

Two Alarms for One Fire

Box 53 was rung in Sunday afternoon and was immediately followed by Box 22 in Ballardvale. A telephone message came in to the fire house that there was a fire in the Tracy house on High street. The firemen, four in the Box 53 alarm which is situated near A. N. Colby's on High street in the center of the town. The fire was on High street in Ballardvale hence the second alarm.

The blaze was confined to the bay window in the Tracy residence and although the room was considerably smoked up, the damage amounted to about $100, according to the firemen.

Punchard Girls Win

In an interesting basketball game on the Guild floor Saturday night, the Punchard high school girls' basketball team emerged victorious over the Guild girls by the score of 13 to 12. At the end of the first quarter Punchard led their opponents 6 to 2, and at the completion of the first half had advanced their lead 10 to 3.

Grace Parker was the individual star of the game, scoring nine points for the high school girls. The summary: GUILD: G. Parker, r.f. 1.g., S. MacLeish r.g., J. Bisset s.c., C. Gordon c., B. Skea l.f., E. Valentine r.f., J. MacLeish r.f., J. MacLeish s.c. Punchard 13, Guild 12. Goals from floor: Grace Parker 4, Mae Elander 2, Jean MacLeish 3, E. Valentine 4. Goals from fouls: E. Valentine 4, S. Parker 1. Referee: Edith Bruce. Umpire: Morrissey. Score: Doherty. Timer: Hilton. Time: Two 7-minute and two 8-minute periods.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Looking Back Twenty-five Years

Superintendent Johnson will address the Burns club tomorrow evening. He will speak upon "Athletic games (cricket, baseball, football) as an Ally of the Community in the Development of Character and Good Citizenship." Mr. Johnson will probably present in a somewhat new way some of the moral aspects of group games and show their relation to the welfare of the community.

The high lights of the annual Town meeting were as follows: Appropriated the sum of $116,505.00; voted $3,500 for sanitary improvement at Stowe School; voted for a new road roller; voted for a new steam fire engine; voted for additional fire alarm boxes; referred district school question to school committee; appointed a Finance committee; Town House Improvement committee; and a Punchard School Conference committee.

The largest vote cast for anyone was 377. The license vote was: Yes, 41; No, 202. Selectman Stark recommended that the auditors have a salary of $40 apiece. J. Newton Cole moved that the auditors be paid a salary of $50 apiece. Charles W. Clark amended the motion to the effect that the auditors be paid $100 apiece and this amendment was lost. It was voted that there be three auditors with a salary of $50 each. It was moved to raise the salary of the Town Clerk from $1000 to $1300 and the salary of the Town treasurer was fixed at $450. The finance committee was appointed as follows: Arthur B. J. Newton Cole, John S. Stark, George D. Lawson, Joseph T. Lovejoy, Charles L. Carter, John N. Cole, Wm. G. Goldsmith, Frederic S. Boutwell, Charles W. Clark, J. Warren Berry, Wm. B. Graves, Brooks F. Holt, John L. Smith, Barnett Rogers.

George Ripley presided as moderator of the South church parish meeting. By the report of the treasurer it was shown that the total amount of the church debt collected to date is $3,460. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: George Ripley, moderator; E. K. Jenkins, clerk; J. Warren Berry, treasurer; G. A. Parker, I. F. Pratt and J. J. Abbot, assessors.

Marland mills has been running nights a portion of the week.

After twenty years service, David Shaw has resigned his position as organist of the South church and Miss Maude M. Cole has been chosen to take his place.

Miss Marcia Richards has been spending the week at her home on Main street.

Up to the middle of this week, seventy-one orders for gas stoves had been taken at the local office of the Lawrence Gas Company.

John Kimball has accepted a position with the Lawrence Gas company and will canvass this town to promote the sale of gas ranges. Mr. Kimball recently resigned his position as ticket agent at the Andover station.

Miss Lucilla Phelps of the West Parish has accepted a position in the office of the Merrimack Mutual Insurance company. George E. Hussey will leave the employment of the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance company next week. He is yet undecided as to what he will do in the future.

In 1890 the valuation of taxable real estate in Andover was $3,252,270; in 1900 it was fixed by the assessors at $4,300,899 an increase of over $1,000,000 in ten years. About one-half of this increase is shown in the assessed value of the town, and the best of that increase is that the growth does not seem to have been beyond the demand.

The Board of Selectmen organized with William G. Goldsmith, chairman, and John S. Stark, clerk, on Tuesday night. George W. Mears, was reappointed as it was thought advisable by the board that the town revert to the former custom of having only one night officer. William L. Frye was chosen once more as chief.

P. A. ATHLETICS

The Phillips academy athletic teams closed the winter sport indoor activities Saturday, by scoring overwhelming victories in track, swimming and basketball at Andover.

The Blue athletes displayed the best form of the season in the contest, and two records were broken during the afternoon. Ernest Latham established a new record in the 1000-yard run in the meet against the Brown freshmen. The former Lowell high athlete ran in splendid fashion and won the event in 2 minutes, 27 seconds. Paine of the Blue swimming team established a new mark in the 100-yard back stroke, doing the distance in 1 minute 14 3-5 seconds.

Basketball

The Phillips academy basketball five completely buried the Huntington school hoopers in their contest at Andover Saturday afternoon by the overwhelming score of 49 to 11.

The return of "Dug" Hopkins at left forward and Stuart at right guard bolstered up both the offense and defense of the Academy team, and made a vast difference in the team work.

Ted Avery was as usual the outstanding performer, shooting baskets from all angles of the floor. The Montana boy made a total of 19 points of his team's total. "Johnny" Ward and Hopkins played excellent basketball, both boys giving beautiful shots for spectacular goals. Stuart displayed a keen eye for the hoops, despite his long absence, and scored three nice goals from the floor.

The Huntington five were without the services of their captain who was their leading scorer. However, as good as he is, he would have had difficulty in helping his school Saturday, for the Blue team was determined to close their season with a win.

The visitors had not played a game for two weeks, and thus undoubtedly was also a factor in their defeat.

Coach Blackmer gave several Blue substitutes a chance to display their ability and the boys did excellent work, particularly Cooper, Swift and Lock.

Swimming

The Phillips academy swimming team completely submerged the Boston all-inter-scholastic natators in the Andover pool, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 50 to 12.

The meet was featured by the breaking of one Andover record, the 100-yard backstroke in which Paine of the Blue swimmers, negotiated the distance in 1 minute, 14 3-5 seconds.

Considerable damage to the highways of the town resulted from the heavy rain storm which began shortly after midnight of Sunday and lasted until well along in the afternoon Monday. Roger's Brook was a raging torrent, overflowing its banks below Punchard, making a lake of the Richardson field and extending in one place across Bartlett near Chestnut. On North Main street the water ran down the electric car tracks washing quantities of sand onto the electric car tracks at Marland Village. Many people were forced to walk a part of the way from Lawrence on account of the obstruction to travel.

The pupils of Miss Lucia G. Merrill gave an excellent piano recital at Musgrove block before an interested audience of parents and friends. Among those who took part were: Helen Bailey, Mary Gilman, William Jewett, Arthur Johnson, Helen Brown, Frances Tyler, Ruth Danenhowe, Florence Merrill, Helen Battles, Marion Abbott, Lucia Burt.

Miss Coburn's Saturday afternoon dancing class held a reception in Pilgrim hall Musgrove block. Miss Minnie Sugatt and Miss Gertrude Hannaford presided at the favor table. Mrs. Arthur Cox presided at the piano. The matrons were Mrs. Andrew McTernan and Mrs. David Lindsay. The Misses Elsie Holt and Grace Hardy presided at the punch table.

In Andover, March 11, 1901, a daughter, to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Lovejoy of West Parish.

The Woman's Relief Corps organized a Sewing Circle Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Moors White on Essex street. Eleven members were present. Mrs. Bean was chosen president and Miss Hobbs secretary and treasurer.

At the first regular meeting of the school committee since Town meeting, J. Newton Cole was reelected chairman of the committee.

A unique and at the same time a pleasant event, probably the first of the kind ever held at Phillips academy was given by the young men rooming in the Latin and English Commons last Saturday evening at the "gym."

It was in the shape of a dance and although no ladies were admitted, their places were filled very successfully by fellows. The old gymnasium was decorated with Harvard, Princeton and Andover flags, while at either end "Commons" sweaters were conspicuously hung. The program of dances started at eight o'clock with the grand march which was led by Mr. Stearns and Mr. Freeman with many couples following. Songs were sung by Messrs. Barney, Watkins, Mains and Pearson. Among those present were Shirley Ellis, P. A. '97 now of Harvard, Trainer Peet and H. F. Chase.

At the regular meeting of the Grange the subject for the evening debate was "Shall Farmers be Taxed for Village Improvements?" The affirmative was supported by Milo H. Gould and Miss Alma Bailey and the negative by George L. Averill and Mrs. J. A. Morrill.

At the monthly meeting of the Andover Guild the superintendent reported that sickness had made the past month a busy one and that there had been many calls by those who needed work, clothing and food. These cases have been investigated and in seven instances relief has been given. Nine packages of clothing have been received and six families aided from them. Four classes in cooking are in progress; one for cooks, two for girls, and one for school children. In the girls' clubs there have been forty members enrolled. A gift of $100 has just been received from Mrs. John Byers of New York, for carrying on this work among girls. It was reported from the Stamp Savings bank that over $20 had been received every week since the first of January.

The Blue scored "slams" in the 40-yard, 600, and 1000-yard events. B. L. Thompson was the high point winner, gathering firsts in the 40-yard and 300-yard events. The Latham twins displayed their usual fine form in winning their events the 600 and the 1000-yard runs. Ernest, running in his best form of the season, not only won the 1000 but established a new indoor record doing the distance in 2 minutes 27 seconds. Phil Riley of Lawrence placed third in this event.

The Brown Cubs were hopelessly outclassed, and won two first places in the 40-yard hurdles and in the shot-put event.

"Ted" Avery won the high jump event for the Blue with a leap of 5 ft. 7 in.

Coach Ray Shepard will undoubtedly have another strong track and field group when the outdoor season permits meets at Phillips Oval. The Blue have shown remarkable strength in the running events in the indoor season, and the field group also give promise of rounding out a well-balanced track team.

The summary: 40-yard dash—Won by Thompson, Andover; second, Shepard, Andover; third, Wolfe, Andover. Time: 5 seconds.

Captain Fletcher Nyce, made a valiant try to break the record in the 100-yard breaststroke, but failed by two seconds. The Blue leader holds the world's inter-scholastic record for this event in a 25-yard pool. In practice during the past week, he came within a fraction of a second of establishing a new record, and it was the hope of

Confident of Finding Gold in Philippines

Veteran miners of the Philippines believe that army aviators will discover ore long the mother lode of auriferous ore, the existence of which is said to be proved by the golden particles to be found in almost every river of the island of Mindoro.

It was in this island that Major Reinberg of the aviation service, searching for convenient landing places in the unknown interior, recently found a "white tribe," which no white man had seen before. This region has for years defied the efforts of explorers. It is surrounded by jungles and mountain peaks, infested by deadly serpents and is the haunt of the "tamarao," a ferocious beast not found in any other part of the world and said to be a cross between a deer and a water buffalo. The country has remained cut off from civilization, although the wild Man-yanos of the coast have always been aware of secret trails leading to it.

In these jungles Colonel Mitchell, then Brigadier General Mitchell of the air service, last year secured his "tamarao" trophy, for that much-discussed officer is known to the army as a mighty hunter.

Mindoro's name is enough to attract adventurers, for it is "Mina de oro," or gold mine, in Spanish. Long before the Spanish explorers passed that way the island was frequently visited by Chinese traders who exchanged the commodities of Cathay for gold dust with the Man-yanos. Ancient brazen gongs of Chinese origin treasured in Man-yan communities bear out this statement, although the Spaniards never found much gold in the country. Perhaps they were harsh and cruel with the natives or too busily engaged in fighting the Moro raiders from Sulu, who eventually wiped out many of their settlements.

Not a little American capital has been expended in prospecting for gold in Mindoro, but the efforts of the prospectors did not produce enough of the metal to pay expenses, though enticing "colors" were frequently found.

Marriage Wrecked on Rock of Discourtesy

There is nothing on earth that so grinds one as to be met with discourtesy and rudeness in daily life. I have watched for fifty years and I have found that the nastiest little cancer that eats the deepest and hurts the worst in married life is lack of courtesy, just common, everyday politeness in the way you address each other and in the attention you pay each other, in the way you eat your food, in the way you conduct yourself in the privacy of your bedroom.

Be gracious! More men and women have lost themselves to each other by being rough and careless and sickening each other concerning the little niceties of life, when merely to keep up things in the way they began would have saved the whole situation.

At this minute if I should be asked to name the biggest rock on which matrimony stands, I would put my fingers on the thing that starts discontent and unhappiness, as lack of courtesy between men and wives, which very shortly culminates in disgust and disrespect.—Gene Stratton-Porter in a posthumous article in McCall's Magazine.

"Bore Waves"

A high tidal wave, or succession of two or three, rushing up a narrow estuary or tidal river, as at change of tide is called a bore wave. They occur in places where the tides rise and fall a considerable number of feet, as in the Bay of Fundy and various rivers in Europe and other parts of the world. As the tide advances the water is suddenly thrown in as if in a mass, and then pursues its course up the estuary or river and in opposition to the current, presenting a volume of water moving with great rapidity and relentless force and with a height varying from two to three feet to more than twelve feet. In the case of the Tien-Tungkiang the bore is said to have a rise of twenty feet and to advance with a loud roar at the rate of ten miles an hour.

EXPLAINS "GAG RULE" IN LORDS

Briton Tells of System in Upper Body.

Washington.—The marquis of Huntley, who, as a guest in Washington, has observed the American senate in action, issued a statement explaining the operation of the British house of lords, of which he has been a member for more than 30 years.

The statement was issued at the request of and through Vice President Dawes, who is conducting a campaign for amendment of the senate rules so that a majority of that body may cut off debate on any subject at any time.

The marquis said there was an erroneous impression that the house of lords was without a rule under which a majority could end discussion.

"Under the standing orders of the house (which it is said have not been altered for more than 200 years)," the marquis said, "any peer may rise in his place and move that the question now be put; that a peer, rising to speak, be heard in preference to the peer then addressing the house, and that any matter is not 'in order.'"

"When either of these motions is made it is the duty of the lord chancellor (who acts solely as ex-officio chairman of the house) or of the lord chairman of the committee, when the house is sitting as a committee, to read it out and to say 'those who are in favor of the motion will say "content," the contrary, "not content," and if his verdict on the response is challenged he orders a division, the "contents" to the right of the throne and the "not contents" to the left of the bar. By the result the house decides for or against the motion.

"It will be seen, therefore, that the general sense of the house can be obtained and enforced by a majority of the peers present."

Eskimo Must Pay His Alimony With Animals

Anchorage, Alaska.—One bull moose, properly butchered and delivered; ten mink skins, dressed and stretched; five gray fox pelts or one silver pelt, together with 100 full-grown salmon delivered in season is the alimony Charlie Big Eyes must pay his squaw.

This was the decision handed down in divorce proceedings by tribesmen who heard the case against the native of Nulihik, on lower Cook inlet.

The judges decided that the foregoing constituted a fair share of the increment accruing to a well-regulated native family, whenever the husband drank up 50 mink skins at $5 per pint, the prevailing price for the brand of volcano juice fabricated by the manufacturers on the inlet.

The defendant in the case was charged with having terminated his drinking marathon by pitching his squaw into the creek when she chided him.

British Invention Checks Speed of Falling Planes

Paris.—Ninety per cent of the air-plane accidents, according to Capt. F. T. Courtney, a British wartime flyer, would be averted by adoption of the helicopter idea.

A new device, consisting of four horizontal gyrotors, and which he calls the "autogiro," was demonstrated by Captain Courtney at the flying field at Villacoublay. This invention, he declares, will eliminate the greatest risks by automatically diminishing the speed of a falling plane. He says it also does away with the difficulties of landing.

He gave an exhibition test in a small Avro plane and was able to make his landings easily and gently. The "autogiro," he says, may be adapted to any ordinary plane.

FILENE'S FASHION SHOW

Local Models Demonstrate Latest Styles Under Auspices of Shawsheen Woman's Club

Filene's Fashion Show was most successful last Monday afternoon in the assembly hall of the Administration building, under the auspices of the Shawsheen Woman's club and the direction of Miss Harriet Ainsworth. An interesting talk on "Personality in Dress" was given by Miss Ainsworth preceding the showing of the models.

She told how a woman might bring out her personality in her choice of clothes and make the most pleasing effect. As each model appeared she described the costumes, showing the points that were brought out in it and type of woman who could wear the dress well.

The models gown in delightful creations were Mrs. Willard Currier, Mrs. Charles Gerish, Mrs. George Higgins of Lawrence, Mrs. Henry J. Simmers, Mrs. C. LeRoy Amby, Miss Mabel Keane, Miss Irma Coolidge and Miss Rita Dumont.

Two vocal selections by Mrs. C. LeRoy Amby, "The Swallows" and "The Bobolink" were well received.

The dramatic committee of the club was in charge of the show and much credit is due them for its success. The hall was filled to capacity and many were forced to stand. Mrs. Clarence W. Coolidge is chairman of the committee and was assisted by Mrs. Henry J. Simmers and Mrs. James S. Hamilton. The furniture used on the stage was furnished through the courtesy of the Nugent Furniture company of North Main street and the potted plants were from J.H. Playdon.

WELL CALLED CITY OF ETERNAL YOUTH

Damascus Has Seen Many Empires Come and Go.

Damascus, said to be the most ancient inhabited city of the world, has just come through another ordeal of fire and sword, yet the work of rebuilding the devastated area is already well under way.

From the earliest times the city has been continually subjected to destruction and pillage. On countless occasions she has been sacked and her buildings leveled to the ground; yet thanks to her wonderful recuperative power she has always risen from the debris radiant and with a new lease of life.

Damascus is a city of eternal youth. She is the garden of the desert and her position is unique in the eastern world.

For thousands of years the waters of Damascus have given refreshment to millions of people parched with the heat of the Syrian sun, and her cool, shady gardens have never failed to provide their luscious fruits. She has seen the rise and fall of kings and empires, of princely powers and dominating dynasties. She has survived them all.

The life of the city never changes. The caravans come and go. The same cosmopolitan multitude of Bedouins, Turks, Persians, Armenians, Kurds, Jews, Circassians and negroes from Arabia through her busy bazaars, which are a perfect blaze of oriental color. The ceaseless hum of the narrow, covered streets, flanked by picturesque doorways and state courtyards, is everlasting, and the recent disturbances have only caused a temporary lull.

For a few days there was a pause in the feverish activity of this mighty market of the East, and the bazaars were strangely silenced.

Now Damascus is returning to her own again, the Damascenes are working hard to repair the damaged buildings, and the old atmosphere is gradually coming back. Every day the damage appears less, the chattering crowd of bustling Orientals grows greater, and the hammer of the brass beaters sounds louder. The gentle tinkle of the camel bell is heard once more, although the great caravans dare not venture on the open road.

From the surrounding hills Damascus appears a great white city embedded in a rich green garden. She is like a pearl in a setting of emeralds. Her hundreds of mosques and minarets vie with each other in simple splendor.

From this great oasis the camel caravans have century after century wended their slow and stately way out into the vast waterless spaces of the world, which on the map are merely yellow patches.

Damascus has seen the beginning of every existing power. She will probably see the end of them all.

Warns of Quakes

A remarkable instrument that translates the slightest tremors of the earth into sounds that issue from a loud speaker is the recent invention of a Japanese professor, Dr. Jun Shida of Kyoto university. It is designed to give warning of the approach of earthquakes, says Popular Science Monthly.

The possible usefulness of the invention lies in the assumption that most severe earthquakes are preceded by slight shocks. Thus an audible warning of slight tremors would give people time to leave homes and office buildings before the arrival of a destructive quake.

The invention consists of a pendulum, an electric coil and an amplifier. The pendulum is so delicately poised that it responds to the slightest vibration. When it is set in motion, electricity is generated in the coil, which actuates a sound-producing device. The sound is amplified and issues through a loud speaker.

Square and Compass Bowling Averages

The positions of the leading bowlers in the Andover Square and Compass league remain unchanged as a result of Wednesday's matches, although some of them fared poorly. Roy Hardy still maintains the lead and his average is less than two pins short of a hundred. F. Robertson, with only nine strings rolled, is in second place and H. Cairne and D. ### Thought in Insects

Among the higher invertebrates—the ants, bees, wasps and other social insects—there is a complex behavior which has been interpreted by some to imply a consciousness comparable with that of man. Others have emphasized the instinctive character of the activities of these animals and have been content to consider the higher insects as mere automata. The insects represent a line of evolution that has culminated in man, and it is difficult to compare the insect mind with human consciousness. Either the performances of bees and ants are largely reflex or must be attributed to a very complex affective consciousness.

Odd Slavery Conditions

There is much corroborative testimony and numerous references to the facts that there were at the outbreak of the Civil war a very large number of free negroes and that these negroes in many cases owned property and slaves. These latter, however, were usually members of their families whom they had redeemed and whom they held as slaves technically on account of the laws of many states which prohibited the manumitted slaves from remaining in the state or territory. In many cases the slaveholder, while himself originally a slave, had received his freedom before certain laws went into effect which were not retroactive.

COSTUME PARTY SUCCESS

Parent-Teacher Association Observes St. Patrick's Day With Dance for Movie Picture Fund

The Ways and Means committee of the Shawsheen Parent-Teacher association sponsored a most enjoyable and well attended costume party last Friday evening in the Shawsheen school. The proceeds were added to the fund to purchase a motion picture machine for the school and a good sum was realized.

There were quite a number in costume and the judges had difficulty in selecting the winners. The first prize was awarded to Mrs. Murray in the costume of a Spanish Cavalier.

The prizes for the prettiest costumes were given to Mrs. John M. Erving and Mrs. Ralph Bevington who were dressed as balloon girls. Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Collins dressed as a Dutch couple were given the prizes for the funniest costumes. The judges were Mrs. William A. Greene, Alexander Ritchie and Frank Bartlett. Sinclair's Balmoral orchestra furnished music for dancing.

The committee in charge was Mrs. Philip Blades, chairman; Mrs. Clarence W. Coolidge, Mrs. Charles Sawyer, Mrs. Alex. Tainsch, Mrs. Walter P. E. Freiwald, Mrs. James Finnegan and Mrs. Richard Davis.

Indians Lose to Fall River

Fall River scored three goals in the first half of the game with Shawsheen last Saturday at Tiverton, R. I., and while held scoreless in the final half these were enough to win 3 to 1. The game was well played and the Indians put up a plucky battle.

Shawsheen tried out a new player, Bardslay, at outside right and he scored the only goal for the locals in the second period after a pretty piece of play. The Indians rallied strongly in the closing stages, but poor marksmanship on two occasions prevented them from tying the score.

Fall River rested Fryer, Croft and McKeen in view of their game with Boston Sunday, but they were in no way weakened as their positions were taken by Bob Wilson, Morley and Reid. Morley signalled his reappearance by scoring two of the Markmen's goals.

Angus McIntosh played a fine game between the sticks, the old goaltender making some wonderful saves from the Fall River sharpshooters. Shawsheen has been fortunate in goal tenders all season with Murdoch, Lowe and McIntosh.

Gray was again introduced at left back and played a fine game for the Indians. The triangular combination of Watkins, Oliver and Flynn were warmly applauded by the Fall River fans.

The summary:

SHAWSHEEN		FALL RIVER

Raises 1,600 Bushels Corn on Ten Acres

Columbus, Ohio.—Sixteen hundred bushels of corn from a ten-acre plot, an average of 95 bushels an acre from 130 additional acres, tabulation of 1,083 hills of corn before a "mussed" one was found, and several hundred hills averaging five stalks to a hill, are the records set up by Ira Marshall of Dola, champion corn raiser.

"Proper soil, proper cultivation and the right kind of season are what one needs for a crop like this," he declared while attending farmers' week here. "I had them all last year."

Carpenter, 86, Goes Sleepless 20 Years

Lincoln, Neb.—A. D. Gregg, a carpenter, has just celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the last time he ever took a nap.

Back in 1906 Gregg had a severe attack of chills and fever. This was succeeded by an onset of rheumatism that caused him unpeppable agonies. For weeks he could not sleep because he could remain only a few minutes in any one position.

In time he got over the rheumatism, but he had become so accustomed to going without sleep that he hasn't slept any since then. Gregg says that he hasn't spoken about this fact for several years because of the general incredulity that met his story whenever he happened to tell it in the years past. He doesn't care whether anybody believes it, but it is true, just the same.

Squares Advance in League

Only four points separate the first three teams in the Andover Square and Compass bowling league and with but two more weeks to go a hot finish is expected.

The Gavels were forced into third place Wednesday night by the Squares who took three points from them and placed themselves in second place three points behind the leaders. Erving with 107 had high single, and J. P. Christie's 291 was high triple.

The best the Trowels could do was to split the points with the Compasses, although they won the total by 57 pins. The Compasses after winning the first string by 4 pins went to pieces and lost the second by 67, but came back again and won the third by 6. Hardy had high triple of 294 and Higginson hit 104 for high single.

The Plumbs took all the points from the Levels and went into a tie for fourth place with the Compasses. Mosher was high with 105 and 283.
